Governor, in Sharp Reply at Poughkeepsie, Charges Opponent Is Appealing to Foes of Law and Order

Assails Labor Agitators Declares Former Executive

POUGHKEEPSIE, Oct. 6 .-- The ishose between representative governent or dominance by special groups and between law and order as against here to-night in a speech filled with sharp attacks on the sentiments expressed by ex-Governor Alfred E.

Commenting on the list of organiza-Governor Miller said:

Governor Miller said:

"Taking credit for the fact that he invariably yielded to the behests of these groups who came to him with a certificate as to the number of votes they controlled, he has raised an issue in this campaign that is paramount to any question of economical administration of government. It is the issue between group government. It is the issue between group government. He, by his own confession, stand for representative government in the interest of all the people, and there is a sharply defined, clearcut issue. Those who have axes to grind, those who have the government. Those who only want to have the government will be the fact that the could not under white the fact that the form ventured to challenge the business conduct of the state and ministration and they charged to the state and ministration and they charged that it was white the state of New York is."

Naming samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; James Holland, head of the State Federation of Labor, and Peter J. Brady, publisher if "The City Record" and an official of the lithographers' union, he declared that they were men who were trying the labor vote. He further characterized them as men who are living upon the labor of others, who are in soft golitical jobs on the pay roll of Tammany Hall, and who do not represent abor in its true sense, and who certainly do not represent enlightened tabor in its true sense, and who certainly do not represent enlightened american public opinion.

The cause of the labor leaders drawing the Governor's fire was the resolution passed at the State Labor Convention asking that the state police be disbanded.

"What do the State Constabulary to?" asked Mr. Miller. "Do they inserfere with anybody's liberty? No. Do they interfere in these industrial disputes? No. Nobody pretends that they do. They maintain law and orer, and the people who asked that hey be disbanded do not want law and order maintained, and that is the anly conceivable reason that they can law for preferring such a request."

In all of the labor disputes in the tate the good offices of the State Soard of Mediation and Conciliation and been tendered, Governor Miller tided, and it was only where lawless mass took place which got beyond the control of the local police that the

October Moving Shows 50 P. C. Gain This Year

Measuring the volume of October 1 moving by gas meters, the gas company announced yesterday that 46,725 families in Manhattan and the Bronx moved the last of September or the first three days of October. Employees of the gas company had to lock and unlock that many meters. They were busy day and night. Last year at the corresponding period they had only 31,242 meters to attend to.

The records of the company fail to show any desertion of the city for the country, almost all of the meters being unlocked soon after being locked. By the meter test the most moving was done west of Fifth Avenue between 110th Street and the Harlem River, where 6,941 meters were adjusted, as compared to 3,267 a

Governor Miller devoted a large part of his speech to a rebuttal of the Smith charges that the Republican adminis-tration had not effected economies in

No new requirements of the treasury, but in order to complete the fiscal year as mere substitutes for appropriations already made, we reappropriated those amounts, and they aggregated something like $3,000,000. Another single item. As you know, the Federal government is gradually increasing its aid to rural post roads."

vance the money, and then when the work is done we get it back. In past years, although there is a provision in the constitution that no moneys can be paid out of the treasury except upon an appropriation, in some manner, by some means or other. I think in disregard of that plain provision, they have got along by only a nominal appropriation for the Federal roads. We said that the constitution should be obeyed, and so we made an appropriation, enough to take care of this money which the Federal government advances. It was not an appropriation for which we had to obtain revenue; it was merely an advance of money to the Federal government which we got back, and that appropriation, never made before except in a nominal amount, was around $7,000,000. "So that in those two items alone, you have ten millions accounted for for which revenue did not have to be raised. Now, if Mr. Smith had evon saided his expert accountant, if he had even examined the reports of the State Comptroller, he would have found this explanation, he would have found this explanation, he would have found this explanation, he would have found that for a more strikes and that last year of his administration as compared with the last year of his administration, had recreased nearly $1,000,000. He would have found that fact, notwith-standing that we had to make up $10.000,000 of deficiencies which his administration had left unprovided for, and I advise him, before any further that it. William M. Runyon, Republican candidate for Governor of New Jersey, filed yesterday at Elizabeth, N. J., a $5,000 suit for alleged slander against Mrs. Raymond W. Donges, of Merchantville, N. J., a member of the Democratic State Committee.

The suit is based on alleged remarks of Mrs. Donges at a Democratic meeting at Collingswood, N. J., August 12. According to Runyon's attorney, Mrs. Donges said: "State Senator Runyon, while making a dry address in Camden, had such a skate on he could not stand still."

"Cavalleria" and "Pagliacci" Win Generous Applause for San Carlo Singers

The operatic twins, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" were offered by the San Carlo company yestorday evening at the Century. In the former, Gladys Axman was Santuzza, making what was said to be her first appearance here in that part. She was a passionate heroine, one might say tigerish, with clear notes alternating with obscured ones. She was warmly received, likewise Gennaro Barra, in good voice as a jaunty Turiddu, with Gluseppe Interante as Alfio and Stella De Mette and Alice Homer as Lola and Lucia.

Four Courts Hour, the fusiliade by Free State adherents. The fusiliade lasted a half hour before it was silenced by government troops, who brought an armored car into action. Earlier in the day irregulars seized a lorry and from its shelter hurled bombs at the military guard at Petty Sessions Court. The lorry drove away, only to crash into an area, where it was wrecked and abandoned.

The first financial estimates of the provisional government, which were issued to-day, came as a shock to the public. The pre-war expenditure for all Ireland amounted to $12,000,000 annually. The estimate for the vear Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" were of-

Other parts were taken by Mm. Inter-Other parts were taken by Mm. Inter-rante and Curci. Mr. Peroni conducted both operas, with the chorus vigorous in both. The large audience took every possible occasion for applause.

DUBLIN, Oct. 6.—Editors of leading
Free State newspapers received letters to-night warning that they would be shot on Sunday unless they modified their attitude toward the irregulars.

The provisional government at once

The provisional government at once took precautions to guard the offices of the publications.

Another indication that the government's offer of amnesty to all offenders who lay down their arms by October 15 has only served to inflame the Republicans was seen in the military activities of the irregulars in tary activities of the irregulars in Dublin to-day. While the Dail was in Mexican Soldiers, Sent to session firing began a few blocks away, near the ruins of the Four Courts. Rebel snipers made a target of the Four Courts Hotel, which is occupied by Free State adherents. The fusillade all Ireland amounted to $12,000,000 annually. The estimate for the twenty-six Free State counties for the year ending March, 1928, is nearly £38,000,000. Of this sum £19,000,000 is required immediately. Property compensation is put at £10,000,000, and the military budget at £7,000,000.

The big taxes necessary to meet these expenditures is likely to have a serious effect on the economic life of the country.
